name agents used on clandestine liaison missions in Cambodia and asked the CIA for advice.

The agent was a relatively low-ranking man, and the CIA advised the Green Beret command in Nha Trang that it should "disperse" with him if he was under suspicion. The CIA itself was unable to determine whether the man was a double agent.

There was never any consideration among the CIA directors in Saigon that the man should be killed. There may, however, have been some misunderstanding in the relay of information between Saigon and Nha Trang. But at some unspecified date, some officials in Saigon contacted Nha Trang with specific orders that the man should not be killed.

The Green Beret command replied that it was too late, that the mission was already in progress. The command had set up an operation during which the suspected double agent was to be shot.

The Army has announced that the killing took place on or about June 20. A month later, Col. Robert B. Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., the commander of all Special Forces in Vietnam, was relieved of his command and placed under arrest along with seven of his subordinates. Two weeks later, the Army announced their arrest and said they had been charged with murder and conspiracy. It added that an investigation was under way to determine whether they would be brought to trial. Since then the Army has refused to give any details of the case, and the U.S. Embassy in Saigon has maintained a hands-off policy.

The Columbia Broadcasting System had still another version of the murder story Sunday night. In a telecast from Saigon, CBS said it learned from a top source that the murdered man was a "triple agent"—a captain in the South Vietnamese army, a spy for the CIA and an agent for the North Vietnamese Communists.

According to the CBS report: The agent gave the North Vietnamese only incidental information while supplying top secret matter to the CIA. A lower echelon man in the CIA heard that the captain was spying for the North Vietnamese and, not knowing that he was also a spy for the CIA, ordered the Green Berets to kill him. By the time higher ranking CIA men found out about the execution order, the man was dead. The "infuriated" CIA men went to Gen. Creighton Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, and Abrams ordered the Green Berets arrested in an attempt to improve "already shaky relations" between the CIA and the Army.

Another civilian attorney entered the case today with the arrival in Saigon of Henry B. Rothblatt of New York City. He said he would defend Maj. David E. Crew of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Capt. Leland J. Brunley of Duncan, Okla.; and CWO Edward M. Boyle of New York City.

Attorney Gregory petitioned the Army Sunday for a speedy trial or dismissal of the charges against his client, Maj. Thomas

No Incident in Festival of 400,000

By NOAMI ROCK
Associated Press Writer
WHITE LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — The great rock festival ended today in the same spirit of peace and sharing that enabled 400,000 young people to gather for three days of music, marijuana and mod living without a major incident.

"There has been no violence whatsoever, which is remarkable for a crowd of this size," said Dr. William Abruzzi, the festival's chief medical officer. "These people are really beautiful."

As the great exodus of tired, thirsty, hungry youths began Sunday, security officials reported three deaths and close to 5,000 persons treated for injuries, illness or adverse drug reactions during the three-day span.

A late afternoon thunderstorm speeded departures. But thousands of determined fans remained and huddled around flickering campfires through the chill night to hear the final concert.

Despite the rain that turned the farm fields of the festival site into seas of mud again, despite the shortages of water and food and the lack of sanitary facilities, the spirits of the audience remained high at the end.

Everything from drugs, to rides to sandwiches donated by local residents and merchants was being shared. Volunteer doctors and nurses were treating the sick in hurriedly set up clinics to keep the hospitals free for emergencies.

"Today," said Michael Lang, 24, one of the festival organizers, "is a time to think about what happened here—the youth culture came out of the alleys and streets. This generation was brought together and showed it was beautiful. The peace they were screaming about is what they really want—they're living it. They value each other more than material things," said Lang, who had anticipated an attendance of only about 50,000 each day.

The extraordinary response created traffic jams, health problems and material shortages beyond anyone's expectation.

Pictured above are 32 members of the Junior Choir of First Baptist Church, Hope, who attended the State Music Camp, August 11-14 at Ouachita Baptist University, Arkadelphia. They were among 522 juniors from all over the State who were registered for these music activities. Mornings were spent in music class periods with the Fourth and Fifth Grades learning the cantata, "Journey to Bethlehem" and the Sixth Graders learning the cantata, "David."

Afternoons were spent in recreation and evenings in a class period and worship service.

The two cantatas were presented at the last session Thursday afternoon to parents,

McClellan Is Skeptical of Proposal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — President Nixon's proposed allocation of a portion of federal revenues to the states with no strings attached has drawn skepticism from Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

McClellan says, however, that the plan may have to serve as an alternate because "the federal government is drying up all the sources of revenue" states have.

McClellan said he would favor or reduction of federal taxes in some areas and leaving more sources of revenue open to state and local governments.

Collins Hangs Up Spacesuit, Aldrin Unsure

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronaut Michael Collins, the man who orbited the moon while his crewmates made history, says he is hanging up his spacesuit and will take a nonflying job in the space program if it's offered to him.

Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., another of the Apollo 11 crew, and the second man to walk the moon, also casts doubt on his specific future plans.

The third crewman, Apollo 11 commander Neil A. Armstrong, says he would serve the space program "in any capacity," including space flight.

"Apollo 11 is my last flight," Collins said Sunday during a televised interview on the CBS program "Face The Nation."

"I think it's difficult to keep up year after year, to really approach the training, the living in simulators, with the zeal that you have to in order to do a good job," Collins said. "Of course there are a lot of encroachments on my family life which I have not enjoyed."

Collins said he intends to contribute whatever he can to the space program in another job, but the 38-year-old Air Force colonel said he didn't know what that would be.

Aldrin said he expects to continue in the program, but has not decided about going back into space.

Only survivor of Custer's last stand in 1876 was the badly wounded horse. Comanche.

Haynesworth

Lindsay said Haynesworth "lacks the philosophy and sensitivity required to carry on the traditions of Louis Brandeis, Felix Frankfurter, Benjamin Cardozo and Arthur Goldberg."

Nixon passed up church for the second week in a row Sunday and completed a three-day break from business appointments. The weekend included helicopter hops to different golf courses three days in a row.

The latest and longest golfing excursion came Sunday when the President flew to Palm Springs, 100 miles east of San Clemente, to play the private nine-hole course on the Palm Desert estate of Walter Annenberg, the U.S. ambassador to Great Britain. The President went around in 106-degree heat with his daughter Julie, son-in-law David Eisenhower and Annenberg.

The helicopter trip took the President over the scene of a huge antiwar demonstration staged at his doorstep.

That was as close as he got to several thousand persons who spent two hours in the hot sun peacefully protesting the Vietnam war.

IRISH CRISIS (from page one)

Stewart, who cut short a holiday in Switzerland, and Home Secretary James Callaghan, Wilson will present his proposals to Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark of Northern Ireland probably Tuesday or Wednesday.

Government sources in London predicted that Wilson would insist that the Ulster government speed up reforms to give the Catholics more political representation, better jobs and more housing.

Wilson may also suggest that Ulster's 8,000 special police reserves, a Protestant force whose members keep their weapons at home and are mistrusted by the Catholics, not be used in troubled areas.

G&F Ouster Hearings Slated to End

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The ouster hearing for state Game and Fish Commission member Ramond Farris of Biscoe ended today and evidence may be presented to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller by the end of the week.

The hearings on nine charges of misconduct in office against Farris were held last month. The hearing on the 10th charge, that Farris illegally baited a field to attract doves, lasted about 50 minutes today.

The court reporter said he hoped to have a copy of the testimony prepared by Wednesday to Thursday. It then will be certified by Courtney Crouch of Springdale and Heartsill Ragon of Fort Smith, the panel appointed by Rockefeller to hear the charges, and then presented to the governor.

H. W. McMillan of Arkadelphia, the governor's evidence officer, said most of his case on the 10th charge was built on previous testimony by G&F wardens Troy Staggs and Pete Corpiel.

McMillan said the two wardens testified last Sept. 3 that they placed wheat in a field on Farris' farm Aug. 29 for the purpose of attracting doves at the opening of dove season on Sept. 1.

Aubrey Fowler, chief enforcement officer for the commission, testified that he went to Farris' farm Sept. 5 and that he ordered the field closed.

"I told him (Farris) that in my opinion it was illegal to shoot in the field," Fowler said. McMillan asked Fowler if he thought the field had been baited.

Fowler said a federal Grand Jury had refused to return any indictments and that he would not second-guess the court.

Two other witnesses testified today that they hunted on Farris' farm the afternoon of Sept. 1 and that there was wheat in the field.

"I've seen wheat sown all my life," said Larry Ellingson of Biscoe. "It was on the ground too thick just for the purpose of growing wheat."

Ellingson said several birds were eating the wheat. He also said the wheat had not been disced under the ground.

Ellingson, a grader of grains at Stuttgart, said Farris came to the field and told him and his companions that they could return in two days. He quoted Farris as saying the 12 persons who had hunted in the field the morning of Sept. 1 had gotten their limit.

Ellingson also said he returned to the field recently and that grass had grown among the wheat.

Billy Stokes of Biscoe, a farmer, testified similar to Ellingson.

Arkansas May Feel Might of Hurricane

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas was expected to feel some of the might of dying Hurricane Camille today, although not much, the U. S. Weather Bureau said.

Showers and thundershowers were expected to move into the state from the southeast today as that portion came under the influence of the hurricane. Rain was expected to spread northward over most of eastern Arkansas today and diminish tonight.

Partly cloudy skies and afternoon thundershowers were forecast in the western portion of the state as Hurricane Camille was expected to be too far east to affect that portion of the state.

Mostly cloudy skies and mild temperatures are expected over most of the state through Tuesday.

Temperatures Sunday were in the mid to high 80s. The high was 97 at Texarkana.

Rainfall reported for the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today included .44 of an inch at Pine Bluff and .95 hundredths at Memphis.

Moon Rocks

Lanette will travel by chartered bus, attending the Short Course August 17-23. Transportation and insurance are provided by 139 Arkansas Banks through the Bankers 4-H Fund and The Folger Coffee Company. The First National Bank and Citizens Bank of Hope are participants in the Bankers 4-H Fund.

The 4-H Citizenship Short Course will be conducted at the National 4-H Center, and is designed to give older 4-H members knowledge and practical experience in becoming a better citizen.

The program is built around the theme of "Citizenship Means Social Responsibility." Each morning talks and discussions will be led by leaders in the national government, while the afternoons will be devoted to tours to the places relating to the morning discussions. The group will visit 15 of the many historical shrines in Washington, including the Capitol, the White House, the Library of Congress, Mount Vernon, the Smithsonian Institution, and the National Gallery of Arts. They will visit their senators and congressmen Wednesday at the Capitol, at which time they plan to see a Congressional Committee in session. This Citizenship program is designed to help 4-H members develop a greater understanding and appreciation of American heritage and to deepen their commitment to the democratic way of life.

when the rocks might be offered for public display.

But after NASA scientists finish their studies, there are 142 other scientists from around the world who also will run tests on the samples.

Present plans call for releasing about 15 per cent of the material to the scientists sometime next month.

Public displays will come after the scientists are through. Exhibits may be offered in large U.S. museums and there could be traveling displays. One problem still to be worked out is whether the samples will need to be kept hermetically sealed to prevent atmospheric damage.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

FOR HUSBANDS ONLY
Dear Helen: I hope you'll print my letter, for my husband and other men read your column, whereas they don't read women's magazines where this subject is often discussed.

Men don't seem to realize they could make their wives feel like queens with just a little consideration. It isn't their "uncaringness," but their "showingness" that sometimes makes us feel so alone.

My husband is typical of many. He's a good and wonderful man, a fine father. But he hasn't said "I love you" in five and one-half years. We've been married less than six years.

I know he loves me because of the things he does for us, but how I long to HEAR those words, to get a friendly hug while I'm fixing dinner, an unexpected kiss that says, "You're terrific," a compliment that isn't "fished for."

A few times the feeling grew so strong that I asked my husband if he loved me. He rebuffed me with, "Actions speak louder. . ." and dropped the subject. Since then I don't ask any more. He's right, of course, but the longing is still there.

Many times I tell him I love him, Helen, women everywhere will sympathize with me when I say it feels like you've given a very precious gift and the receiver tramples it into the "Uh-huh," or a flip remark. So the mood is broken for me and he isn't even aware that there WAS a mood.

Sometimes, when the house—a compliment from the one that means most to her—on how nice the house looks, or her appearance, or how good the children are—can make the sun come out. She'll work twice as hard to maintain that image.

Too often men don't realize that women aren't as physical in their love. They need a pinch of emotion to lift them to the heights. If they add that one ingredient to their marriage, winning recipe.

I'm not downgrading men in the least. I think they're great! But can't they see that it isn't "unmanly" to show a little tenderness? —HOPING because of the "male image" passed on from one generation to the next. Little boys are They "don't cry." They hide their emotion, fearing they'll be called sissy. While girls learn the art of femininity from their mothers, few boys hear from their fathers how to become "gentle" men. Dad is too busy "making a man out of the kid!"

Your good letter, will see the Some in this generation already have—and they're passing the word on to their sons...who are almost sure to reap the benefits! —H.

Dear Helen: A mother of teens asked how to avoid being an answering service when her children were out of the house. The telephone company does not like to have people take the phone off the hook. However, they can install on the underside of your attached switch, by which, when it is turned off, no bell will ring while the person having dialed your number hears a sound like your phone is ringing.

AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There will soon be twice as many widowers as widows in televisionland, a study of marital status on the three major networks shows. New widowers will join the ranks to replace last season's dropouts.

The widows are holdovers from last season: Lucille Ball, Doris Day, Julia and Mrs. Muir.

Carol Brady of "The Brady Bunch," a new show, might be included because she is a widow with three children when the series premieres. She will, however, marry Mike Brady, widower with three children, in the first episode.

Barbara Harper, a widowed school teacher with a little girl, will finally catch the elusive head of the "My Three Sons" family, but not until about two months after the series resumes in September.

There will be four widower newcomers: "Marcus Welby, M.D.," the father of three in "To Rome, with Love," the chief executive of "The Governor and J.J.," and the man in the title role of "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

Television characters are never casually assigned marital status. Often it is a device on which the series is hung. Half the fun of "Family Affair" springs from the way that two dedicated bachelors—master and servant—try to bring up of around $3.00. It eliminated many nuisance calls, especially at night, and allowed free time for work or naps during certain hours of the day. —KONRAD

Dear Konrad: Thank you for the tip. I checked with our telephone company and found that the cost of these gadgets is now around $8.00 for installation and a tip to the Ma Bell. Why not equip the switch with a red light so that users will remember to unflip it?—H.

Dear Helen: I hope you'll print my letter, for my husband and other men read your column, whereas they don't read women's magazines where this subject is often discussed.

Men don't seem to realize they could make their wives feel like queens with just a little consideration. It isn't their "uncaringness," but their "showingness" that sometimes makes us feel so alone.

My husband is typical of many. He's a good and wonderful man, a fine father. But he hasn't said "I love you" in five and one-half years. We've been married less than six years.

I know he loves me because of the things he does for us, but how I long to HEAR those words, to get a friendly hug while I'm fixing dinner, an unexpected kiss that says, "You're terrific," a compliment that isn't "fished for."

A few times the feeling grew so strong that I asked my husband if he loved me. He rebuffed me with, "Actions speak louder. . ." and dropped the subject. Since then I don't ask any more. He's right, of course, but the longing is still there.

Many times I tell him I love him, Helen, women everywhere will sympathize with me when I say it feels like you've given a very precious gift and the receiver tramples it into the "Uh-huh," or a flip remark. So the mood is broken for me and he isn't even aware that there WAS a mood.

Sometimes, when the house—a compliment from the one that means most to her—on how nice the house looks, or her appearance, or how good the children are—can make the sun come out. She'll work twice as hard to maintain that image.

Too often men don't realize that women aren't as physical in their love. They need a pinch of emotion to lift them to the heights. If they add that one ingredient to their marriage, winning recipe.

I'm not downgrading men in the least. I think they're great! But can't they see that it isn't "unmanly" to show a little tenderness? —HOPING because of the "male image" passed on from one generation to the next. Little boys are They "don't cry." They hide their emotion, fearing they'll be called sissy. While girls learn the art of femininity from their mothers, few boys hear from their fathers how to become "gentle" men. Dad is too busy "making a man out of the kid!"

Dear Hoping: It's simply

Your good letter, will see the Some in this generation already have—and they're passing the word on to their sons...who are almost sure to reap the benefits! —H.

Dear Helen: A mother of teens asked how to avoid being an answering service when her children were out of the house. The telephone company does not like to have people take the phone off the hook. However, they can install on the underside of your attached switch, by which, when it is turned off, no bell will ring while the person having dialed your number hears a sound like your phone is ringing.

Several years ago we had this gadget put on our phone at a cost three children. Sometimes it is a way of bringing children into shows—and appealing children often work magic with ratings. Sometimes, too, a widower is created to give a series more flexibility: E. G. Marshall, playing Lawrence Preston in the pilot film of the late "Defenders," had a wife. She was quietly dispatched, in the interests of simplifying scripts, before the series began.

Happiest bride of the new season has to be Beverly Garland who, as Fred MacMurray's new spouse, will join the "My Three Sons" family, as Mrs. Harper, widow.

Miss Garland, in private life the wife of a nonprofessional and mother of two, has been married on television before. She was Bing Crosby's wife in a short-lived situation comedy.

"I'm happy," said the actress, "because most of the time I'm cast as an alcoholic or a psychopath or the victim of poisoning."

She was able to break her disturbed acting image before—when she was chosen to play Crosby's wife—because for more than a year she had appeared as a jolly games-playing regular on what was once TV's annual summer replacement, "Stump The Stars."

"I was able to be myself and people saw that I could even be funny," she said.

Beverly kept busy with film roles after the Crosby show. When she heard that "My Three Sons" was casting a wife for Stephen Douglas—MacMurray's role—she asked her agent to suggest her.

"Personally I had some reservations about whether anything would come of it," she confessed, "but after Fred had talked with me about it, he chose me."

Miss Garland said keeping busy is important to her and her family. "Acting is an extension of my life, and because of it I find myself able to function better in my most important roles: wife-mother," she said. "Fortunately my husband understands that too."

Arkla Scholarships

VIRGINIA CALLCOTT

Two outstanding graduates of Emmet High School have received scholarships for the 1969-70 college school year from Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.

They are: Virginia Glen Callcott, daughter of Ralph J. Callcott, and H. Doyle Morrow, Jr., son of Hubert D. Morrow. Their fathers are employed at the Arkla Gasline plant at Arkla Village.

You'll Love Look
If you've always wanted to be part of the Lost Generation, you'll love the Art Deco look in fashion. The styles are those of the late 1920s and early '30s and are guaranteed to make any woman look like a "vamp."

Tread Light, Men
Men's fashions have gone wild and wonderful, but the basic rules still apply. Gentlemen, please remember that no one, in any fashion era, has looked anything but silly if he mixes his styles—which is to say that silk ties and sports jackets worn together is still a fashion no-no. So is wearing any type of loafer with a business suit, or wearing wing-tips with casual slacks. Look as avant-garde as you please, but be consistent.

DOYLE MORROW

The scholarships are among 73 awarded by the gas company to high school graduates and college students in seven states.

The cash grants amounted to about $26,000, which brings to nearly $250,000 the amount of scholarship grants awarded by Arkla since 1957.

W.R. Stephens, president and chairman of the board of Arkla, said that character, leadership, scholarship and financial need are the basis for the awards.

Each scholarship this year amounts to $350, and comes from an annual fund established from contributions by employees and the company. All winners are sons and daughters of the employees of the company or its subsidiaries.

In high school, Miss Callcott was a member of the National Honor Society and was a delegate to Girls State. She will attend Southern State College and will major in physical education.

Morrow will attend the University of Arkansas, after attending Southern State University last year. He was a member of Future Farmers of America, the Agri Club, president of the Riding and Rodeo Club, and student senate and the Pre-Med Science Club.

Giants Find Namath Is for Real

By ROBERT MOORE

Associated Press Sports Writer

The saddest faces in pro football today belong to the New York Giants.

The reddest faces belong to that army of National Football League die-hards, who argued in January after Joe Namath pitched the American League New York Jets to a Super Bowl victory over the NFL kingly Baltimore Colts that Namath wasn't really for real and that the Jets played far over their heads.

The Giants, who occupied the New York football throne for nearly 4½ decades and saw it crumble beneath them in less than three hours Sunday, will vouch for the fact that Namath is very much for real and that the Jets deserve their status as pro football's world champions.

Some 70, 874 spectators jammed Yale Bowl in New Haven, Conn., and watched the Jets clobber the proud Giants 37-14.

Namath insulted the Giants pass defense by completing 14 of 16 tosses for 188 yards and three touchdowns.

So, once again, the cocky and controversial Namath, as he did in the Super Bowl, made good his pre-game boast:

"I don't think too many people are going to take the Giants seriously any more."

In Sunday's other exhibition games, the Atlanta Falcons bombed the Boston Redskins 20-16 and the Dallas Cowboys nipped the San Francisco 49ers 20-17.

Seven games were played Saturday night. The Cleveland Browns downed the Los Angeles Rams 10-3, the San Diego Chargers edged the Oakland Raiders 10-7, the Chicago Bears ripped the Green Bay Packers 19-9, the Kansas City Chiefs routed the Cincinnati Bengals 23-7, the St. Louis Cardinals routed the Cincinnati Bengals 23-7, the St. Louis Cardinals tripped the Pittsburgh Steelers 27-13 and the Philadelphia Eagles defeated the Miami Dolphins 14-10.

Friday night's only action saw the Baltimore Colts squeeze by the Houston Oilers 33-29 and the Detroit Lions beat the Buffalo Bills 24-12.

Namath and the Jets wasted no time taking charge against the Giants. They zoomed to a 24-0 lead almost before the Giants realized what was taking place.

Namath's payoff pitches were a 29-yarder to George Sauer, 20 yards to Bill Mathis and two yards to Pete Lammons. Rookie Mike Battle of Southern California got another Jet touchdown when he rembled 86 yards on a punt return. Fran Tarkenton passed for both Giants touchdowns, 13 yards to Aaron Thomas and 48 yards to Bobby Du-bon.

Jim Butler scored twice in the Falcons' conquest of Boston, once on a 76-yard gallop. After spotting the Patriots a 6-0 lead on Gino Cappelletti's 23-yard and 50-yard field goals, the Falcons assumed command and led 17-6 at halftime.

Dallas got its triumph over the 49ers on field goals of 22 and 21 yards by Mike Clark. The Cowboys picked up two touchdowns after interceptions of John Brodie's passes.

The Browns conquered the Rams when linebacker Dale Arns walked 50 yards with a pass interception. San Diego's mer: PGA champ, spiced final Dick Redman, another linebacker action with a hole-in-one, using er, romped 24 yards with an in-a five-iron on the tereception for the touchdown George Knudson rang one up in that beat the Raiders.

A 39-yard pass from Jack the four this season. Concepcion to Dick Gordon and three field goals by Mac Percel. Beard finished with a 69 for 282, val for Chicago's Bears wiped Jack Nicklaus had a 71 for 283, out Green Bay's 9-0 advantage. defending champ Julius Boros a Kasas City's victory over Cin 71 for 287.

Leo's Call on Bullpen and It Works

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

When Leo Durocher had his famous bellyache several weeks ago he turned to a boys camp in Wisconsin. When he has a headache he turns to his bullpen.

The manager of the Chicago Cubs wig-wagged for relief twice Sunday and, quicker than you could say "the other pain-reliever," first Rich Nye and then Phil Regan came on to cure what ailed Durocher.

The outcome was a 3-1 victory over San Francisco in the nightcap of a doubleheader after the Giants took the opener 5-3 on Bobby Bonds' tie-breaking two-run single in the seventh inning. Still, the Cubs saw a full game sliced from their lead in the National League East. They lead the New York Mets by 7½ games and St. Louis by eight.

Elsewhere, the Mets swept San Diego by identical 3-2 scores. St. Louis trimmed Cincinnati 5-3. Pittsburgh topped Atlanta 8-5. Los Angeles trounced Montreal 9-3 and Houston edged Philadelphia 3-2.

That left the NL West in its daily state of confusion, with the Reds one game in front of the Dodgers and 2½ ahead of the Astros, Giants and Braves.

In the American League, Minnesota nipped Washington 4-3 in 13 innings. Detroit shelved Oakland 9-4. Baltimore downed Seattle 4-1. Boston shaded Kansas City 1-0, the New York Yankees took the Chicago White Sox 5-2 and Calie.

The Cubs-Giants opener was a cut-and-dried affair. Jim Hickman's 11th homer gave Chicago a 1-0 lead. Mays' 11th homer and 598th of his career put the Giants in front 3-1, and after the Cubs tied it in the sixth, Bonds' two-run single won it in the seventh.

Dick Selma walked five—including Willie McCovey intentionally with two out and the bases empty in the third with the score 0-0—but didn't allow a hit until Bonds slammed his 22nd homer in the fifth after the Cubs had gone ahead 3-0.

With two out in the seventh, Bonds and Ron Hunt singled and Durocher started to feel the first symptoms. He called for Nye and the left-hander retired pinch hitter, Jim Ray Hart on a tap back to the mound.

An inning later, McCovey walked—unintentionally—and with one out Ken Henderson singled. With Mays striding to the plate as a pinch hitter, a real migraine was just around the corner, so Durocher needed a big dose of his strongest relief—Regan.

The 32-year-old veteran slipped a called third strike past Mays, retired Don Mason on a grounder and set the Giants down 1-2-3 in the ninth, getting Bonds and Hunt on called third strikes.

Regan was obtained by the Dodgers from the American League after the 1966 season—the Cubs got him last year—and credits former teammates Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller, both now with Minnesota in the AL, with helping him become a successful reliever.

The Mets swept San Diego for the second day in a row on Duffy Dyer's three-run homer in the opener and a two-run triple by Bud Harrelson in the nightcap, followed by J.C. Martin's pinch sacrifice fly.

Jerry Koosman hurled a five-hitter in the first game and Ron Taylor put down a San Diego threat in the second, extending the Padres' latest losing streak to 10 games.

Home runs by Bob Tillman, Hank Aaron—No. 32—and Rico Carty pulled the Braves into a 3-3 tie with St. Louis but the Cards won it by scoring twice in the seventh on Mike Shannon's sacrifice fly and Julian Javier's single.

Gene Alley's three-run homer capped a five-run uprising in the first inning and Pittsburgh overcame four Cincinnati homers to beat the Reds. Al Oliver and Willie Stargell also connected for the Pirates while Pete Rose, Bobby Tolan, Johnny Bench and Tony Perez were the Cincy belters.

The Dodgers trailed Montreal 3-2 entering the ninth but exploded for seven runs on Bill Sudakis' two-run homer, a two-run single by Willie Davis and Wes Parker's two-run double, with Parker scoring on an error. Ty Cline and Ron Fairly hit solo homers for the Expos.

Sandy Valdespino ended Philadelphia's consecutive shutout string at four games by stealing home in the first inning and the Astros went on to edge the Phils. Doug Rader's homer helped Houston take a 3-1 going into the ninth.

Cowan Did Fine With Squeeze on

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Somewhere in the mumble, jumble of coach's hand signals, the word had gone out. Billy Cowan was supposed to bunt.

Jay Johnstone, leading off third base, knew it. Manager Lefty Phillips, in the dugout, knew it. Coach Mike Roark, who flashed the signal from third, knew it.

Just about everybody who had to know about it, knew about it. Everybody that is, except Billy Cowan.

California was trailing Cleveland 6-5 in the eighth inning with runners on first and third and Cowan was pinch hitting for Bill Voss. A good spot for the squeeze, decided Manager Phillips.

Johnstone broce from third on Juan Pizarro's pitch and Cowan, realizing too late that the squeeze was on, missed his hurried wing and Johnstone was an easy out.

Cowan then smacked Pizarro's next pitch for the two-run homer that won the ball game for the Angels, 7-6.

In other American League games Sunday, Detroit battered Oakland 9-4, Baltimore tripped Seattle 4-1, Boston shut out Kansas City 1-0, New York dropped Chicago 5-2 and Minnesota edged Washington 4-3 in 13 innings.

In the National League, New York won a doubleheader from San Diego, 3-2 in each game, Los Angeles ripped Montreal 9-3, Houston edged Philadelphia 3-2, St. Louis dropped Atlanta 5-3, Pittsburgh outslugged Cincinnati 8-5 and San Francisco split a doubleheader with Chicago, winning the first 5-3 and dropping the second 3-1.

The homer was Cowan's second of the season and the fifth of the game, tying a club record for the Angels.

Rick Reichardt had opened the eighth with his second homer of the game, narrowing Cleveland's lead to one run. Bubba Morton and Jim Spencer also connected for the Angels.

Ken Harrelson had a two-run shot for the Indians.

Denny McLain rode a six-homer Detroit attack to his 19th victory of the season, becoming the first major league pitcher to reach that total.

Al Kaline crashed a pair of homers and Mickey Stanley, Tom Tresh, Don Wert and Jim Northrup had one each, giving McLain all the offense he needed.

Tom Phoebus pitched Baltimore to its fifth straight victory and 11th in the last 12 games as the high-flying Orioles remained 16½ games in front in the East Division by whipping Seattle.

Dave May, Don Buford and Brooks Robinson all tagged home runs to account for all the Baltimore scoring. Don Mincher had three hits including a homer for the Pilots.

Boston's Vicente Romo, making only his third major league start, got relief help from Sparky Lyle and Sonny Siebert and the Red Sox blanked Kansas City.

Singles by Mike Andrews and Reggie Smith and a double by Dave May accounted for the sixth inning accounted for the game's only run. Lyle rescued Romo from an eighth inning jam and Siebert shut off a ninth inning Royals' threat.

Jimmie Hall tied the game with a two-run homer in the fourth and then cracked a double that started New York's ## three-run winning rally in the seventh as the Yankees whipped Chicago.

Three perfect innings of relief by Lindy McDaniel nailed down the victory.

Consecutive singles by Cesar Tovar, Ted Uhlaender and Tony Oliva pushed across a run for Minnesota in the 13th inning and the Twins nipped Washington.

Both teams had scored twice in the 11th—the Twins on Harmon Killebrew's 32nd homer and the Senators on a walk and three singles—to keep the ball game tied.

Houston May Just Be the Best Ever

By B. F. KELLUM

HOUSTON (AP) — Soft-spoken Coach Wally Lemm says

this year's edition of the Houston Oilers could be the best Houston team he has ever coached.

This would make it a pretty salty outfit because Lemm, beginning his fifth year as head man of the Oilers, guided Houston to an American Football League championship in 1969 and to an AFL Eastern Division title in 1967.

But one of Lemm's best teams might not be good enough to take the eastern division crown this year since the opposition includes the world champion New York Jets, and three other division clubs figured to be improved.

The Oilers were the surprise of pro football in 1967, when they won the Eastern title after finishing in the cellar the previous year. Then, hit by injuries and illness to key personnel last season, the Oilers finished 7-7, runnerup to the Jets.

Lemm sees better days if some things fall into place.

"Three things have to happen," he said. "We must have a minimum of injuries, we have to get our share of the breaks, which any winning team has to have, and Pete Beathard has to take charge at quarterback."

Beathard has been the main reason for Lemm's optimism. He said the six-year pro the Oilers obtained from Kansas City in 1967 is "100 per cent improved."

Lemm stressed the importance of not losing any key personnel, noting that in 1967 when the Oilers went from last to first they didn't suffer any crippling injuries.

Beathard, missed four games last season due to an appendectomy.

Lemm has designated Beathard as the No. 1 quarterback although he has been pleased with the work of Don Trull and Bob Davis.

Beathard has some of the finest receivers in the league in Mike Haik, Jim Belne, Alvin Reed and Ed Carrington.

Hoyle Granger and Roy Hopkins are a pair of durable running backs. They will be aided by Ole Burrell, back after missing last season with a broken ankle. Woodie Campbell, in service in Vietnam, is due to join the team after the season gets under way. Five rookies are contending for a spot but as a group the first year men are short on speed.

The Oilers may have the finest set of defensive backs in the league in Miller Barr, Zeke Moore, W. K. Hicks and Ken Houston.

Cornerback Leroy Mitchell, acquired from Boston, suffered a cracked neck vertebrae and has been placed on the injured reserve list.

AFL West: Kansas City Chiefs

PROSPECTUS—How you going to improve an 12-2 regular season record? And still it didn't win Chiefs anything (lost to Raiders in division playoff). Talent-laden as ever, Chiefs under Coach Henry Stram, sometimes pay price of being in tough company. Johnny Robinson, Lenny Dawson only original Chiefs on roster, but five other regulars have been around since '61. Just a shade of concern that age could catch up to an AFL power-house perennial.

RECEIVING—For first time in nine years there'll be new look at tight end. Fred Arbanas moved to tackle, leaving Greg Carolan with first shot as successor. But Curtis McClinton, ex-fullback, also joins in. More important is successful comeback by Otis Taylor as wide receiver after severe groin injury last year. Meanwhile, Frank Pitts has developed into good long threat. Rating—B+.

RUNNING—Chiefs unsheathed another tank in surprising Robert Holmes (5-9,

 It's Best to Let Child Set Own Learning Pace

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

An increasing number of children at age five are attending kindergarten. This is a good thing if no attempt is made to force your child into a mold rather than let him determine his own pace in the matter of learning to read, play with other children and pursue whatever interests him. If he likes to color pictures in a book, he should be allowed to choose the colors he likes—not the ones some adult thinks appropriate. And if he tires of reach a slightly optimistic no-trump game. West makes his normal lead of the deuce of hearts and South plays the three from dummy.

Jim: "Had West led from queen-10 instead of queen-eight, South's nine would be worth a full trick to him but East produces the 10. South lets it hold. East plays the king, again South ducks but he has to win the third lead of the suit."

Oswald: "His next play is the five of diamonds and it is up to West to play second hand high. If he doesn't make that play the eight will be played from dummy. If East lets it hold, South will go after clubs and wind up with two spades, one heart, two diamonds and five clubs. If East plays the queen, South will make four diamond tricks later on."

Jim: "The king of diamonds play should be automatic here. If South holds the queen that king is dead, anyway. If South holds three diamonds and East just two, there is no way to stop four diamond tricks. With the actual holding South is held to a maximum of one diamond trick."

Oswald: "Glad you mentioned maximum. South might just let that king hold and try a finesse for the queen later on. That way he wouldn't even make one diamond trick."

Search Moves to Canada in Murder Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The search for a solution to the bizarre killing of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons centered today in Canada.

Police in Vancouver said they had been asked to watch for four young persons wanted by Los Angeles police for questioning. They said the Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported the men might be headed toward Edmonton, Alta.

Los Angeles police would not comment on the report and Canadian authorities did not elaborate on it.

Meanwhile, two University of Southern California faculty experts on criminal mentality suggested that whoever committed the five slayings Aug. 9 might have created a ritualistic scene to mislead police.

An American flag was draped over the back of a sofa in the $200,000 house in Bel Air rented by Miss Tate and her movie director husband, Roman Polanski.

White nylon cord hung over a ceiling beam joined Miss Tate and another victim Jay Sebring. His head was hidden by a black hood. "Pig" was written in blood on the door.

The victims had been stabbed and shot.

"I think it should be pointed out that this could be the work of a very cunning person," said one of the university experts. "The killer was a little too methodical."

The faculty members, interviewed separately, asked that their names not be disclosed. One is a psychologist, one a psychiatrist.

The killer, said one of the experts, "might have used the hood and ropes and inflicted the multiple wounds to throw police off."

Killed with honey-blond Miss Tate, 26, were Sebring, 26, a hairdresser, who was her former boyfriend; Voltyck Frokowsky, 37, a Polish writer; Abigail Folger, 26, a San Francisco socialite; and Steven Parent, 18, a friend of the estate caretaker.

No-Hitter by Traveler Hurler

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Lefty Ramon Hernandez pitched a no-hitter against the strong hitting El Paso Sun Kings Sunday to lead Arkansas to a 2-0 victory over the Sun Kings in the first game of a Texas League double-header.

The Travelers rallied in the bottom of the fifth inning to win the nightcap 4-3.

Hernandez, a 28-year-old native of Puerto Rico, extended his hitless skein to 11 straight innings with the victory. In his last outing, he set down Dallas-Fort Worth for four innings.

Rightfielder Rogers Robinson made a running catch of a Luis Lagunas looper to short right in the seventh inning to keep Hernandez' no-hitter alive.

Only three runners got on base against Hernandez. Two reached base on errors, and Lagunas reached first when he was hit by Hernandez in the fourth inning.

The Travelers rallied from a 3-2 deficit in the nightcap with two runs in the fifth inning. The runs came home on singles by Bill Murphy and Luis Melendez. The Travelers scored twice in the fourth on consecutive doubles by Gaylon Pitts, Phil Tromblino and Danny Napolen.

Anything that speaks to and for the people is Public Relations, whether it is the spoken or written word, music, art, or drama, the Hope B & PW Club was told Thursday, August 14 at a dinner meeting in the Diamond. One of these phases of Public Relations, "Art," was the central theme of the program.

A local artist, Jack Spates, introduced a Texarkana artist, Mrs. Dorothy Lumpkin, and they explained the way students may participate in the Third District Livestock Show Art Exhibit in September at the Coliseum. Several examples of local art by young people were displayed.

Local art supply dealer, Don Roberson of Sherwin-Williams, arranged attractive table centerpieces, and painting by a well-known Stephens, Ark., artist, Luthella Middlebrooks, was the local point of interest. The door prize was won by Mrs. Margaret Park.

Club President, Mrs. Mary Andrews, had charge of a business meeting at which rodeo tickets were distributed for sale by the B & PW Club. A discussion of the Art Show also took place, and it was agreed to promote entries in it. Young artists in the Hope area should begin now to prepare work for display at the show. Further information about entries may be obtained by contacting Jack Spates.

The Public Relations committee in charge of the meeting was: Mary Anita Laseter, Mrs. Nedra Kent, Mrs. Belle Klipsch, and Mrs. Mary Alice Davis.

Mental Patient Is Sought In Slaying

CLINTON, Ark. (AP) — The search for an escaped Kentucky mental patient, wanted in connection with the slaying of a Van Buren County woman, continued Sunday in Van Buren County.

Sheriff Jake Williams said Willard Martin, 32, was being sought in the death of Mrs. Bell Jones, 82, of Alread.

Williams said the search Sunday would be centered between Alread and Scotland in the western portion of the county.

Williams said as many as 25 officers and 100-150 civilians were expected to participate in the search. The search, which resumed Saturday night near Clinton, continued until about 4 a.m. Sunday.

Arts, Letters Performances Was the Best

By ED SCHUYLER JR., Associated Press Sports Writer
Saratoga hosted such outstanding artists as pianist Andre Previn and the Philadelphia Orchestra last week, but perhaps the most memorable performance was given by a four-legged maestro named Arts and Letters.

Previn and the Philadelphia Orchestra performed at the Center of Performing Arts, but the stage for Arts and Letters was Saratoga Race Track where he starred in the 100th presentation of the Travers Horse of the Year, by smashing he drew nothing but rave notices.

Arts and Letters, the shining star of American thoroughbred racing, boosted his stock as Stakes Saturday—and once again five 3-year-old rivals in the $106,600, 1 1/4-mile Travers whipping runner-up Dike by 6 1/2 lengths and equaling the track and stakes record of 2:01 3-5.

In other big races Saturday, Night Invader, the only 3-year-old in the field, was a surprising winner of the $113,050 Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park and Tropic King II took the $84,900 William Penn Handicap on closing day at Liberty Bell Park.

"He just runs so well," was jockey Braulio Baeza's understatement after Arts and Letters made the Travers his sixth victory in 12 starts this year and his fourth straight stakes victory. His other two triumphs also have been stakes races. He also finished second in five stakes and third in an allowance race, which was his 3-year-old debut.

Carrying topweight of 126 pounds, six more than Dike, Arts and Letters returned a winning mutual of $2.40 as the 1-5 favorite and earned $69,290 to boost his career earnings to $436,572.

Stinker on S. Main; Correction as to Industrial Foundation

If there's tension among the congregation of First Presbyterian Church it's because a new but unwanted member is threatening to join the S. Main St. assembly.

His name is Mephitis Mephitis — but to the unlearned he's simply Mr. Skunk.

Saturday morning I heard my old female Bassett hound Gusie sounding off at the fence which divides my property from the church's, went out to the driveway to investigate — and found Cliff Stewart looking worried. "There's a skunk hanging around the back of the church," said Cliff. "I saw him crossing our parking lot — and I wish you'd telephone the police."

There being a community of interest between property owners where skunks are concerned, I telephoned the police at once. "You," replied headquarters, "dig up the darnedest assignments for the police — but we'll send a couple of men."

I went to our office and got one of The Star's cameras, and by the time I returned to the church City Officers Howard Milam and Hanford Long had arrived with a shotgun. Stewart, however, had left.

The three of us probed the grounds around the church — but no skunk.

But he's still there, an eyewitness has reported since. "I'll keep you posted — at a safe distance."

In reporting last Friday on the Hempstead County Industrial Foundation's call for another 10-per-cent contribution against stock pledges I wrote there had been two 10-per-cent calls previously, and the current one would raise contributions to 30 per cent of the original stock pledges.

But this was an error, due to a bookkeeping foulup at The Star, since corrected, thanks to B.N. Holt and his records at Hope-Hempstead County Chamber of Commerce.

From the corrected records it appears there have been three calls for contributions, with the fourth and present call bringing contributions to 41.67 per cent of pledges.

The Star pledged $1,500 for stock, paid in two 10-per-cent contributions totaling $300 or 60 shares — and then, in 1961, contributed $175 for 35 shares, and it was this last item, which, although we had the actual shares in the vault, was not accounted for on our books, until Mr. Holt's correction.

The corrected total, therefore, is $625 in contributions, or 125 shares — being 41.67 per cent of the original $1,500 stock pledge.

The Foundation needs money at this time. We sent in our new contribution over the week-end — and other business houses are urged to do the same. We have to have community money "on the line" if we expect to take advantage of new industry as the chance appears.

Death Row

Inmate Shot in the Leg

TUCKER PRISON FARM, Ark., (AP) — A Tucker Prison Farm inmate on death row underwent surgery Sunday night after being shot in the leg during an escape attempt earlier in the day, authorities said.

James Williams, 37, convicted of murder and sentenced to death by electrocution, was taken to the State Hospital in Little Rock. His condition was not immediately available.

James Price, Tucker superintendent, said Williams refused to return to his cell shortly after concluding a visit with his mother and sister.

Williams suddenly bolted from his cell block area, Price said, ran out of the prison building and down a road toward a free-world living area.

Price said nine warning shots were fired before a guard shot Williams in the leg.

Williams had been on death row since Dec. 11, 1964. Price said he could offer no explanation why the inmate ran.

Prison officials said the Criminal Investigation Division of the Arkansas State Police has been asked to investigate the incident.

Haynsworth to Be Named a Justice

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon today nominated Federal Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of Greenville, S.C., to be an associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Nixon in making the announcement through his presidential press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said he picked Haynsworth because he feels he is "a man who has a proven record as a jurist, both as associate judge and chief judge of one of this country's busiest courts of appeal."

Haynsworth, 56, is chief judge of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeal in Richmond, Va. He was President Eisenhower's nominee to that court in 1957.

Fortas resigned amid a controversy over his ties with the family foundation of jailed financier Louis J. Wolfson.

Controversy also swirled around Haynsworth when his name came up last week as Nixon's likely choice.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Negro civil rights leader Clarence Mitchell were among those raising strong objections to the judge, who comes from Greenville, S.C.

Haynsworth has been described as a middle-of-the-road in his 12 year service on the appeals court that has jurisdiction over North and South Carolina, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

He has sustained a number of desegregation rulings and has written that the pace of desegregation must be maintained.

But Mitchell, a director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said, "We feel that in his key decisions he has clearly taken a position in favor of segregation."

Green Beret Slaying Not Authorized by CIA, Sources Say

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army took the eight Green Berets charged with murder out of close confinement at the Long Binh stockade today and confined them to regular billets at the big headquarters post north of Saigon.

The Army's chief spokesman in Vietnam announced that the seven officers and one enlisted man who are accused of murdering a Vietnamese believed to have been a double agent are no longer under armed guard.

The seven officers are confined to an officers' billet at Long Binh, 15 miles north of Saigon, while the enlisted man, Sgt. Alvin L. Smith Jr. of Naples, Fla., is in an enlisted men's billet "in another area" of Long Binh, the spokesman said.

The eight men, headed by Col. Robert B. Rheault of Vineyard Haven, Mass., former commander of all Green Beret forces in Vietnam, have been at Long Binh since their arrest July 20.

The civilian attorney for one of the officers, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr. of Jefferson, S.C., charged last week that Middleton was being held in solitary confinement in a cell only 5 feet by 7 feet and without proper ventilation.

The attorney, George Gregory of Cheraw, S.C., filed a petition last week for Middleton's release, but this was denied. On Sunday he petitioned the Army for a speedy trial or dismissal of the charges against his client and renewed his charge that Middleton was confined under "inhumane conditions."

The Army began an investigation July 30 similar to a grand jury hearing to determine whether the Green Beret men would be brought to trial. The investigation was recessed Aug. 2 and is to resume Wednesday.

"Isolation of the prisoners, which was necessary during one phase of the investigation, no longer is required," the Army said in a statement today.

The statement added that the Army could not predict how much longer the investigation would last.

"Delays have been caused both by unavailability of certain witnesses and requests for delays by counsel for some of the accused," the statement said.

Meanwhile, another version of the killing was aired today by a source with contacts among intelligence officers in Saigon. He said the slaying of the Vietnamese double agent was done without any authorization from the Central Intelligence Agency.

Gregory had charged last week that the CIA ordered the killing, and other sources said the CIA withdrew the order about a week after issuing it. But these sources were not clear as to whether the man had already been killed then.

This was the version of the killing told today: The Green Beret command began to suspect one of its Viet-

Irish Crisis Moves Into Talking Stage

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The crisis in Northern Ireland moved into the talking stage today as British troops enforced an uneasy peace.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson flew back to London from an island vacation to formulate proposals he hoped would ease the likelihood of further religious warfare.

The Irish Republic asked the U.N. Security Council to meet and send a peacekeeping force to Northern Ireland. British opposition appeared certain to prevent any such action.

Pope Paul VI appealed for "reciprocal pardon and mutual agreement" between the Catholics and Protestants.

In Belfast and Londonderry, thin lines of British soldiers had kept the peace since Saturday night. But Protestants and Roman Catholics remained behind their barricades, wondering who would make the next move and contemplating the results of five days of destruction and bloodshed.

In one isolated incident Sunday night, armed raiders opened fire on a police station in Crossmaglen, a small market town in County Armagh two miles from the Irish Republic border. Police said they returned the fire, and the raiders fled. No one was hurt.

In London, 100 police fought 1,000 demonstrators outside the Ulster Office in the fashionable Mayfair district. Sixty-five persons were injured in the battle, which followed marches by three Irish organizations. At least two gasoline bombs were thrown during a barrage of stones and milk bottles.

Wilson was formulating his Irish proposals at meetings with Foreign Secretary Michael

Longest Heart Transplant Survivor Dies

By ROON LEWALD
Associated Press Writer

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Dr. Christiaan N. Barnard confirmed today that Dr. Philip Blalberg, the world's longest-surviving heart graft patient, died because his heart failed under the onslaught of rejection.

Barnard told a news conference at Cape Town University School of Medicine the day after his famous patient died that results of an autopsy performed within hours of the 60-year-old retired dentist's death were not yet known, but final analysis would show that the cause of his death was rejection.

"We always felt that heart transplants were not a cure but a palliative," he said. "Eventually, the transplanted heart will be damaged so much by rejection that it will not be able to function any more."

In Blalberg's case, his cardiac team slowed down the rejection process for 563 days.

The death certificate said Blalberg died of heart failure brought on by failure of his kidneys and pneumonia.

Two Escapees Recaptured

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Two Greene County Jail inmates were captured at Doniphan, Mo., 30 miles southwest of Poplarbluff, Mo., shortly after they escaped early Sunday.

Captured were George Gallentine, 25, of Jonesboro who was awaiting trial on charges of burglary and jailbreaking, and Larry Wayne Woodson, 22, of Paragould, who being held on grand larceny charges.

Officers said the two men escaped by sawing two bars out of an upstairs window at the jail.

Gallentine was one of four men who escaped from the Greene County jail June 29 but he gave himself up the next day at Jonesboro.

Buildup by Enemy Near Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A top-ranking American commander said today that more enemy regiments are in position between Saigon and the Cambodian border to the north than at any time since May 1968.

Li. Gen. Julian J. Ewell, commander of the U.S. 2nd Field Force, added that many of the units are "first-line regiments traditionally kept up to strength" but are now operating under strength.

"I can't figure out the meaning," Ewell said in an interview. "It's the first sign we've seen of elite troops being put into battle in less than a real good solid strength figure."

The general, whose command stretches from Saigon to the Cambodian border, said parts of at least five enemy regiments have been committed north of Saigon, and at least seven fresh regiments are hidden in the jungles and available for future attacks. Total enemy strength in the 11 provinces around Saigon where the 2nd Field Force operates is estimated at 65,000 troops.

Asked if the large number of under strength units had some political significance, Ewell said: "I think you could read into it whatever you wanted. From my point of view, it's quite clear that they're making a major effort to achieve military success. That's what they say they're trying to do."

Ewell said the enemy's current campaign, launched last Tuesday with attacks on 150 bases and towns, "has not really given us any trouble."

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces claim they have killed more than 3,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops in the 2nd Field Force area in the past three weeks, and enemy action has dropped off more than 60 per cent since the start of the new campaign.

Ewell said, however, that the enemy apparently is trying to draw the campaign out over a longer period than others this year.

There were 91 enemy-initiated incidents reported in the 11 provinces around Saigon at the start of the campaign. The figure has since dropped sharply but remains higher than during the two-month battlefields hull broken by the wave of attacks last week.

The U.S. Command reported today that American helicopter gunships and river patrol boats killed 35 enemy troops in two clashes 18 miles northwest of Saigon during the night.

Armed reconnaissance helicopters with special night-sighting devices detected one group of enemy soldiers on the move and illuminated the area with searchlights. U.S. headquarters said gunship helicopters attacked about 50 to 70 enemy soldiers with machine guns and rockets, and 27 were reported killed.

Navy patrol boats engaged an estimated 10 to 60 enemy soldiers near the Saigon River in the same area, killing at least eight.

Dangerous Hurricane Claws Inland

By GUY COATES
Associated Press Writer

GULFPORT, Miss. (AP) — Hurricane Camille clawed inland into central Mississippi today, leaving at least seven dead with fears that "many more bodies" would be found along the smashed gulf coast resort area.

The entire coast—from the Louisiana line to Alabama—was without communication in most of the area. There was no electricity, no gas.

Black Mayor Daniel Oakes estimated damage to his city at $10 million after a pre-dawn inspection. But after daylight appeared he said "that's a very conservative estimate."

Downtown Gulfport was in shambles. The storm's 150-mile-an-hour winds took roofs from buildings, smashed signs and destroyed 40 of the 250 frame structures at the big Naval Seabee base north of Gulfport.

Camille's fury pushed waters from the Gulf across four-lane U.S. 90 and flooded it. The road was impassable in and out of Gulfport.

The storm knocked out several sections of a bridge on U.S. 90 between Biloxi and Ocean Springs, the only southern route to Mobile, Ala., on the east.

Gulfport had no drinking water but Civil Defense authorities said "the prospects are good" for getting some in the next few hours.

National Guardsmen sealed off downtown Gulfport, a city of 30,000 and normally a center for summer vacationers, to prevent looting.

Hundreds of cars were parked around the sprawling Seabee base, where many took refuge along with the 4,000 men and their families who are stationed there. But few had any windows left.

The Gulfport hospital reported it treated about 50 persons but released all after treatment or examination.

Gulfport is fronted by a white sand beach, an area filled with sunbathers late Saturday. The beach is 60 yards wide and separates U.S. 90 from the water's edge.

But Camille pushed waves high over the protective seawall during the night's furious hours when it howled inland after battering coastal Louisiana and skirting New Orleans.

Reports of damage, particularly from fire, from other points along the coast—Waveland, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis, Henderson Point—could not be confirmed because of the difficulty of communication. Telephone operators cautioned that even emergency calls would be slowed because of the heavy load on facilities and storm damage.

Camille's shrieking winds mounted to 100 m.p.h. as she swerved northwestward.

Her worst fury was near her center but even on her outer edges Camille packed a wallop. Gale winds extended another 120 miles or so on all sides of the storm.
